

ontours – distribution cooperation

With the ontours app, we let people rediscover cities. How does it work? Thanks to a unique software solution, tourists can experience individual audio tours while traveling on public transport (e.g. streetcars and buses). The app only needs to be started once and users receive suitable content in the context of the surroundings on the route while traveling on public transport. The tours are available in several languages and can be customized thematically to give different interest groups the opportunity to experience the best tour for them.

Since the market launch in June 2023, we have been constantly on the lookout for cooperation partners in the hotel industry to help us help people rediscover cities.
